

Brewer Earns Shein Award

Kentucky State Police Commissioner Rodney Brewer recently was honored with the 2011 Melvin Shein Award. Given by the Kentucky Law Enforcement Council, the Shein Award is presented for distinguished service in the field of law enforcement in the commonwealth. Since he was appointed commissioner in 2007, Brewer has been instrumental in a variety of agency improvements, including the Trooper R program, which re-employs retired troopers to increase manpower on the road, the establishment of the Citizens' Police Academy and the acquisition of a new training facility. "His leadership skills and vision have surpassed all past commissioners in my 21 years with Kentucky State Police," the recommendation letter states. "His professional and personal contribution to law enforcement is evident in his dedication and commitment to leave things better than he found them."

